audience reviews

MedEia, Beyond the Proscenium Productions

Review: I'm not much of a theater fan - my girlfriend dragged me to this show. With that, I was totally blown away by this production. I had no idea that plays can be this incredible. I just read the review on SacBee.com and I completely disagree with the critic. Did he see the show show that I did? Just go see this play, it will change the way you see theater.

Review: I could not agree with that first comment more. This production is fresh, innovative, and full of attitude and I loved every minute of it. The reviewer for SacBee seems highly uneducated about the world of theatre and should have seen this play for what it is, a story told through movement incorporating popular pop and rock song themes that are obviously also in the story of Medea; love, hate, passion, revenge, ect. The three woman narrators carry the show on their backs and stood out the most to me, they move and speak constantly throughout the show and are very enjoyable to watch. Overall, I was blown away by this production and would encourage any and everyone to check it out. It is a must see in my book!
