audience reviews

West Side Story, El Dorado Musical Theatre

Review: The choreography in this show is amazing! Indeed, the dancing is the best part of this productions, and it makes the story come alive. The acting and singing also carry the freight for this well, though in some roles the audience has to forgive the non-PR appearance of some actors and their quite evident youthfulness. And the audience does forgive it (heck, it's being cast in El Dorado Hills!) because the performances allow you to get into the story instead. That is as it should be! Tony valiantly fought off illness and did well. The number "Officer Krupke" was an absolute delight! The knack for comedy and humanity in that piece was done with skills that put a seeming 10 years' maturity on the actors. I was disappointed over the recorded sound track vs live musicians, and the theater venue is not the greatest, but again--the cast and story make you forget that. Thank you for a wonderful afternoon!
