Anything Goes, Runaway Stage Productions

Review: The show was somewhat uneven, but Bob Baxter as Moonface was exceptional! Other standouts: Tevya Ditter as Evalyn and Joshua James as Billy. Still a good production, but Runaway Stage has produced better, so my husband and I were a little disappointed. Though, one moment still makes us chuckle: who was the drunk old lady and what was her purpose? She appeared out of no where and was awfully belligerent. Also - the one Asian guy was funny, but a little too overboard and distracted me from the plot. My husband seemed to like him, though. Otherwise, still an enjoyable evening.

Review: Fun show!! Though, the previous poster has a point: who is the old gal? Talk about distractingly random! Why wasn't she added into other parts of the show to not stand out quite so much? Her part wasn't portrayed poorly, it was just the fact the audience hadn't SEEN her until that point!

Review: It was one of the best shows I've ever seen and trust me I see a lot of shows. It was so funny! The actors were amazing.

Review: Friday night 9/12 was an awesome performance of Anything Goes! I was taking a person who had never been to a live thatrical performance so I carefully selected this performance out of all the listings on See a Play. I went expecting a great show and got nothing less. Very solid performances from Ruth Phillips, Kelly Daniells, and Tveye Ditter. But the awesome timing and standout performances by Joshua James and Bob Baxter are what made the show over the top entertaining for myself and my inexperienced guest. Also notable performances were Scott Woodard, Kacey Kamrin and Nicole Knudsen. The costumes were beautiful as always. Lillian Baxter always does a superb job making the actors look good up there. I highly reccomend this show. It's well worth the $20 ticket.
