Wind in the Willows, Young People's Theatre of Folsom

Review: Great show! The rat stole the show... no such thing as opening night jitters, as they all did a wonderful job.

Review: My three children (ages 8, 6, & 3) and I really enjoyed the show!
My 3 year old even asked if we could go back and see it again. The actors were fun to watch and the story was easy to follow. The short length and amusing performances were perfect for introducing young children to the theater.

Review: I absolutely loved this show. Everything fit together; the music, the set, the acting. The cast was magnificent!

Review: This play is clever and upbeat. A must see for little ones. I have a 3 year old that loved it and is now singing all of the songs. The singing, acting, and story are all terrific.

Review: I thought this play was great. Whoever played mr. toad was amazing whoever that was has serious talent and are going to go really far if they pursue acting as a career. I think whoever played mr. toad stole the show. Thank you for allowing me to view this magnificent play. I will be sure to come see another play soon.

Review: i thought that this play was very good and i would like to see it again and again i think that mister toad took the show for sure it was great i cant wait to see it again

Review: Wind in the Willows is one of the cutest children's plays I have seen in awhile. The toad makes the show!!!! She is so cute as a show off yet doesn't get it at all that she is a show off!!! The mouse and mole do a great job supporting the toad. The music and singing done by all the cast
