Little Women, the Musical, Imagination Theater

Review: Opening night and a standing ovation! Well worth the trip to Placerville to see this amazing production. Superb acting portraying a full range of emotions. Highly entertaining and sincere. Stunning costumes. An excellent show to bring the family to. Applause!

Review: This show was simply amazing! If you enjoy musical theatre, this is the show to see. This intimate theatre puts you right there in the midst of the story. The music is beautiful and heartwarming, the acting is some of the best I have ever seen. The entire play is perfectly cast, with a stellar performance from the actress play the lead role of Jo March as well as strong performances by all of the supporting roles. The cast gives a true ensemble performance telling a story of happiness, tragedy, and hope.

Review: FIVE STARS. A deliciously talented cast performs in this timeless classic turned musical. The costumes and music are a feast for the eyes and ears. Come prepared to laugh, but don't forget the tissue. A must see.

Review: Wow. I've been to numerous IT productions but I must say this is the first one that had me crying - 3 times -and I'm a guy. The characters played their roles with enthusiasm, were believable and the story line was able to come through a live stage performance as made obvious by my three good cry's. (I've never seen or read Little Women) I've seen plays in New York, Los Angeles, San Francisco, Washington DC and local venues. Good job IT - For a theatre in a small town with thin resources, your are to be commended for putting together a production and cast that was a wonderful way to spend a few hours on a Friday Night. Keep up the fantastic work.

The singing/music, the authentic, beautiful costumes and the enthusiastic and talented actors brought so much life to this classic story by Louisa May Alcott.

Review: This show was amazing. Such wonderfully talented singers and actors. I was full of comedy and heart-touching, thanks to the story, but also thanks to those talented people who interpreted it for us on stage. I was left with goosebumps, smiles and tears.

Review: Great cast! Terrific performance. The girls looked like they were having a blast. I would highly recommend this musical for all ages.

Review: This is an amazing show about the hope and love of 4 sisters and their mother. Imagination Theater's production of Little Women is great! The cast was perfectly picked; there is such a realistic bond and very believable characters. It's a wonderful show and I recommend that you buy tickets for your whole family!

Review: The music in this show is gorgeous! The women in the cast all have great voices and the acting and energy levels are very, very good. The theater is small and low-tech, but the performances make this definitely worth the time and money. It's a very nice, very intimate production.

Review: Wow! What a gorgeous production. If you have read the book, you will want to see the show. If you haven't read the book, you will want to. The singing is incredible, and the characters so believable, you will laugh and cry along with the March family. A talented cast, from the main characters to the trolls and hags in Jo's vivid stories. The costumes are absolutely gorgeous. A must see...

Review: A terrific night out. Cast and crew should all get credit for a well-rounded performance well worth seeing. First-rate performance by the actress playing Jo March, with Marmee adding genuine affection, Amy spoiled to perfection, Meg swooningly romantic and dramatic, and Beth simply touching. While the professor adds character and Laurie is disarming, the women steal the show. Surprisingly great music and songs.

Review: The music in Little Women is a delight to hear, enchanting and inspirational. Difficult to pull off perfectly, the passion of the actors more than makes up for any small imperfections with the singing. The costumes were absolutely superb, incredibly detailed and a pleasure to see onstage. My only serious criticism would be the length of the scene changes, which were a bit too long for a show that requires minimal set.

Review: Absolutely fabulous! Don't miss this! You'll laugh and cry and be treated to wonderful music along with great acting and a touching story-line. Little Women truly come to life in this production of the Broadway musical. Imagination Theater may be small, but this show is GREAT.

Review: "Little Women" is not full of songs you would recognize unless you are a musical theater buff, but I left with several of the songs taking turns running through my head! The acting, singing, costumes, live band, and attention to the smallest details just takes this show way beyond the average community theater production. You can tell that the cast and directors have put their whole hearts into this show. The performers' enthusiasm and the chemistry and connections on stage leap right out into the audience and draws them entirely into this classic tale. This show is not to be missed!

Review: This show is a must see! Possibly one of the best shows this theater has produced! (and I've been to many of IT's shows). The casting is excellent and each and every actor is talented and perfect for their role. The lead Jo is enthusiastic, touching and funny, and what a voice! The mix of the live band, singing, and characters are kismet! DON'T MISS THIS SHOW! It's a little slice of Broadway in the foothills!

Review: I loved the play Little Women held at Imagination Theater in Placerville. I almost couldn't stop crying at the scene of Beth and Jo at the beach. Knowing Beth was going to die was something else. The scene in the Attic with Jo and Marmee, and Marmee telling Jo she needs to go on with life got my tears going again. The costumes were absolutely beautiful. The red dress Jo wore in the end was just gorgeous. I liked that the IT had a live orchestra playing. This was my first play that I've seen at IT and hope there will be many more for me to see there.

Review: I loved this show. Though at first the notion of seeing Little Women reminded me of Little house on the prairie, I was very pleasantly suprised. The tale was captivating and the music was evoking. The actors seemed very comfortable in their roles and acted very naturally. Jo was firey and driven, and had a beautiful singing voice. I was very pleased with this show and highly reccomend it to everyone. :)

Review: This show was amazing! The cast is perfect! No boring scenes. Very funny. Everyone is talented.

Review: It's a great show. Been a little lazy in writing a review, but I've seen this show twice already, and I'm considering watching it for a third time. The cast is amazing, and the singing is phenomenal.

Review: I was visiting from Washington, D.C., and was blown away by the performance. The lead singer belongs on Broadway. I bought the sheet music and have been playing it at home.
