Urinetown, The Musical, River Stage

Review: This production of UrineTown is just as good as the original Broadway production. The actors are so talented that knowing how they play nice people roles like their personality is startling at how cruel they can be as well. This show should be viewed by all people based on the premise.

Review: Urinetown, The Musical was a pleasant surprise. The cast was wonderful and projected well. The music was loud and upbeat. The political message was very current and important to our times. Funny, witty, satirical, and dark. Highly recommended!

Review: This was one of the best productions I've seen in Sacramento in quite sometime. Kevin Caravahlo, who plays Bobby, is by far the perfect person to play the lead male role. Roger McDonald is a great villain with Maggie Mae playing an adorable Hope who chimes in with some humor at the right spots. One of the best parts was Franchesca who played Little Sally-besides a slightly distracting habit of face movements, she was a strong point in the cast as well-funny girl. It's too bad that Riverstage doesn't participate in the Elly's because if they did, Urinetown would sweep it all!

Review: Excellent production!! I saw this last Friday night and can't stop thinking about it. Very talented actors, director, and stage crew who all put on a great show. Urinetown is absolutely hilarious and I definitely recommend this show to anyone.
